CMMC Certification Roadmap and Cost Worksheet

The full path from CMMC Certified Professional (CCP) to CMMC Certified Assessor (CCA), and the full cost of getting there, with nothing left out. Most course pages show tuition only. This worksheet adds the exam and application fees every candidate pays, so you can plan with the real total.

Please read first: CMMC Training Institute is a Remsera LLC brand. It is not yet an approved training provider, and its courses are in development. Enrollment is not open. Pricing in this worksheet is planned launch pricing, and course availability is subject to authorization. Exam and application fees are set by ISACA and are paid directly to ISACA.

How to use this worksheet

- Pages 1 and 2 map the path, step by step, so you can see where CCP ends and CCA begins.
- Page 3 itemizes the full cost for CCP, for CCA, and for the full pathway.
- Pages 4 and 5 give you a fill-in worksheet for your own numbers and a planning checklist covering budget, study time, and the questions to ask any provider before you pay.

Who this path is for

CCP is the foundation credential. It fits people who support, prepare for, or take part in the CMMC ecosystem: staff at companies that handle defense work, consultants, IT and compliance professionals, and anyone who needs to understand how CMMC Level 1 and Level 2 expectations show up in a real organization.

CCA builds on CCP. It fits professionals who want to do assessment work itself: evaluating organizations against CMMC requirements, applying scoring discipline, and handling evidence and findings the way an assessment team has to.

One decision up front: you do not have to commit to CCA today. Many candidates take CCP first, work in the ecosystem, and decide on CCA with real experience behind them. The cost tables on page 3 are split so you can price one credential, or both, honestly.

The path at a glance: CCP first, then CCA

Certification is a sequence, not a single purchase. Each credential has its own training, its own exam, and its own application to ISACA. Here is the order, with no steps skipped.

- 1 Decide your target. CCP only, or the full pathway to CCA? Use the role descriptions on page 1 and your current work to decide. Your answer sets your budget on pages 3 and 4.
- 2 Train for CCP. Work through the foundation curriculum: how CMMC is structured, how the ecosystem and its roles fit together, the practice families, and the evidence and documentation habits assessors expect to see.
- 3 Pass the CCP exam. Schedule and sit the CCP exam through ISACA. The exam fee is separate from tuition and is paid to ISACA.
- 4 Apply for CCP certification. Submit your certification application to ISACA with the application fee. Passing the exam and holding the certification are two separate steps.
- 5 Train for CCA. Build on your CCP foundation with assessor-level training: assessment process and roles, scoring and findings discipline, and evidence evaluation at assessment depth.
- 6 Pass the CCA exam and apply. Sit the CCA exam through ISACA, then submit the CCA certification application with its application fee.

What the planned courses include

Our planned course design, the same for CCP and CCA, includes each of the following. Hold any provider, including us, to a list this specific before you pay.

- Official CMMC curriculum materials
- Self-paced lessons you can revisit anytime during your access period
- Practice exams and study questions
- Reviewed practice assignments with instructor feedback
- 3 hours of one-on-one instructor time per course
- A weekly live question and answer session, and instructor replies within one business day
- Certificate of completion
- Course access for 12 months from enrollment

Re-sit safety net (planned term): if you do not pass your first exam attempt, you may re-sit the same course once, free of charge, within 12 months of your enrollment date. The re-sit covers course access and instructor support. Exam and application fees are not included and remain payable to ISACA.

The full cost, itemized

The tuition number is never the whole number. The ISACA exam fee ($575 for members, $760 for non-members) and the $200 application fee sit on top of tuition, every time: $775 to $960 still owed after tuition for one credential. The exam voucher is not included in our tuition; exam and application fees are paid directly to ISACA.

CCP: full cost

Cost item	Amount
Course tuition (planned launch pricing)	$1,395
ISACA exam fee, member	$575
ISACA exam fee, non-member	$760
ISACA application fee	$200
Estimated total, CCP	$2,170 to $2,355

CCA: full cost

Cost item	Amount
Course tuition (planned launch pricing)	$1,595
ISACA exam fee, member	$575
ISACA exam fee, non-member	$760
ISACA application fee	$200
Estimated total, CCA	$2,370 to $2,555

Full pathway, CCP + CCA: full cost

Cost item	Amount
Pathway tuition, both courses (planned launch pricing)	$2,690
ISACA exam fees, two exams, member	$1,150
ISACA exam fees, two exams, non-member	$1,520
ISACA application fees, two applications	$400
Estimated total, CCP + CCA	$4,240 to $4,610

The pathway tuition of $2,690 saves $300 versus buying CCP ($1,395) and CCA ($1,595) separately ($2,990 combined). Each credential carries its own exam fee and application fee, both paid directly to ISACA, and the exam vouchers are not included in tuition. Compare any provider, and any bundle, on its full total rather than its headline price. ISACA fees are the published figures used on cmmctraining.institute at the time of writing and can change; confirm them with ISACA before you finalize your budget.

Your worksheet: fill in your own total

Your line	Your amount
My target (circle one): CCP only / CCA / CCP + CCA pathway
Tuition for my target	$ _____
Am I an ISACA member at exam time? (circle one): Yes, $575 per exam / No, $760 per exam
My exam fees (per exam fee x number of exams)	$ _____
My application fees ($200 x number of credentials)	$ _____
My estimated total	$ _____

Planning checklist: before you enroll anywhere

Budget and timing

- ☐ I have priced my full total (tuition plus exam and application fees), not just tuition.
- ☐ I have checked whether ISACA membership saves me money on my exam fees.
- ☐ I know who pays: me, my employer, or a split. If my employer pays, I have asked about team or group enrollment and invoicing.
- ☐ I have a target exam window: _____
- ☐ I have planned study time each week: _____ hours, on these days: _____

Worked examples, so you can check your math

Example 1, CCP only, ISACA member: tuition $1,395 + exam $575 + application $200 = $2,170 total.

Example 2, CCP only, non-member: tuition $1,395 + exam $760 + application $200 = $2,355 total.

Example 3, full pathway, non-member: pathway tuition $2,690 + two exams at $760 ($1,520) + two applications at $200 ($400) = $4,610 total. As a member, the same pathway is $2,690 + $1,150 + $400 = $4,240 total.

Membership is not free, and this worksheet does not price it. If you are considering joining ISACA to save $185 per exam, compare the cost of membership against $185 (one exam) or $370 (two exams) before you decide.

Questions to ask, and your next step

Questions to ask any provider before you pay

- ☐ Is an exam voucher included in this price, or do I pay ISACA separately?
- ☐ What is my full total, tuition plus exam and application fees?
- ☐ How long do I keep course access?
- ☐ How much direct instructor time is included, in hours?
- ☐ What happens if I do not pass my first exam attempt?
- ☐ Are practice exams included, or sold separately?
- ☐ Is the provider currently authorized to deliver this course, and can I verify that?
